

WASHINGTON, March 13.
The harmony of the democratic party suffers daily from the fierce disputes among its members. It is alleged by the Republic that the party could not now unite and carry any party measure in the House. There is much ill will between the state-right democrats and the union democrats; and also between the friends of the old party leaders and those of the younger democracy. Most of the discussion in the House have reference of late to these feuds, and are well calculated to promote them. Yesterday, some words passed in debate between Mr. Brown of Mississippi, and his colleague, Mr. Wilcox; the former a state-rightist and the latter a union democrat, and several blows passed between them on the floor and in presence of the House. Considerable confusion followed, and the parties were separated and were arrested by the Sergeant-at-Arms. The two gentlemen apologized to the House, and I learn that they subsequently reconciled the matter between themselves.

It has been lately intimated in advices from Europe that the larger continental powers are preparing to absorb the weaker ones. There may be some truth in this, and it is quite certain that all these powers are armed or are arming, as if expecting a shock of arms. This may or may not ultimately concern us. But it is admitted that this country is in some respects very deficient in its defenses, especially on the seaboard. The artillery arm has been much neglected, and, indeed, it is scarcely to be said that we have any artillery. There are now but two batteries of the flying artillery in the service; and the artillery companies have been drilled as infantry.

The Government is subjected, of late, to the reproach of suffering the drafts of its agents, given for army supplies, to be protested. This is not only a proof of bad management somewhere, but it results in a loss, in two ways, to the Government. It subjects the Government to damages on the protested bills, and also serves to enhance the price charged for all government supplies. The drafts referred to were on Quarter Master General Jessup's department. He had no money to pay, appropriations being exhausted. It appears that the fault is with Congress, for they cut down the estimates of this department, at the last session, and left upon it the necessity of going beyond the amount appropriated—all of which was predicted. The deficiency bill furnishes the means to pay these bills, but the House has been too much engaged in other objects to take it up. Gen. Jessup is in the mean time censured by some of the members for not keeping the expenses within the appropriation—which was probably impossible, without exposing the army suffering and loss.

Belgium.—Alliance with Russia.—The following is an extract of a letter dated Brussels, February 19, 1852:

A convention has been concluded between our government (the Belgian) and Russia, whereby the latter engages to furnish 100,000 men for the defence of our territory, in case it should be invaded, or seriously menaced by France. Should the Baltic be open, these troops (including the Imperial Guards) are to be transported by a Russian fleet to Antwerp.

Prussia promises no assistance to a like extent. The object of the present mission of the Prince de Ligne to Berlin is to arrange the modus operandi.

Our own army numbers 90,000, of whom 70,000 would take the field, and the remainder occupy our fortresses.

Holland, interested in the protection of the Luxembourg, agrees to furnish a contingent of 30,000.

Hopes are entertained that England—as one of the powers guaranteeing the independence of Belgium—will co-operate with a fleet in the Scheldt, and a garrison for the citadel of Antwerp.—Baltimore Argus.

A Wife Murdered by her Husband.—Supposed Effects of Intemperance.—Between eight and nine o'clock yesterday evening John Mulloy, an Irishman, residing at No. 140 1-2 East Thirteenth-street, while under the influence of liquor, appears to have quarrelled with his wife, who had two little children, and in his passion he killed her by blows and strangling. Alarm was instantly given, and the police of the Seventeenth ward were called in, who found the mother stretched on the floor a lifeless corpse, and the two little children crying and weeping around her. The husband was instantly arrested by officers Mansfield and Brown, who brought him to the station house. It is stated that the day previous a dispossession warrant was issued against him by the landlord, which is supposed to have been the cause of the quarrel between him and his wife.—N. Y. Herald, 13th inst.

GREAT FRESHET.—CANAJOHARIE INUNDATED.—Canajoharie, March 10.—The Canajoharie creek broke up last night, and nearly destroyed the village of Canajoharie, doing great damage to property and carrying away a large amount of merchandise. The basements and first floors of many of the dwellings are submerged.

This village presents the most perfect picture of desolation ever seen. The streets are all filled with ice from two to three feet in depth. The water got choked at the head of the aqueduct by the breaking up of the ice in the creek, and the whole village, for about three hours, was submerged. The cellars are all filled to the tops with ice. Much damage has been done. The street bridge over the creek was raised from its place and carried into the head of the aqueduct and broken in pieces. The danger is now over, and the water is passing the aqueduct freely.—Albany Evening Journal.

A MAMMOTH HOTEL.—The Metropolitan Hotel, about to be erected on Broadway, New York, will cost over half a million of dollars. It is to be six stories high, have five hundred rooms, and each room will have gas, and hot and cold water. There will be five miles of pipe in the building and one mile of halls. There are to be 550 mirrors, costing $15,000. Most of these will come from Belgium, and two of them are nearly one hundred feet square. The silver ware will cost $14,000; furniture $150,000; plate glass, for windows, $35,000.

The fourth volume of Bancroft's History of the United States has appeared in Boston.

The reader will find in another column, an advertisement headed, Dr. Rogers's Syrup of Liverwort and Tar. We have heard it stated by persons of great respectability, who have used this medicine, that it is one of the most remarkable medicines of the age for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pains in the side and Breast, Spitting of Blood, Hooping Cough, and all Lung Complaints, which if neglected, usually terminate in Consumption; and the certificates attached to the advertisement would seem fully to justify this statement.—Railway Reg.
